ACADEMIC REGALIA

Identification of the hood and robe as academic apparel is believed to have originated at the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. The hoods are a carry-over from the times when monks, who operated these universities, wore them to protect their shaved heads in winter. The robe is an adaptation of the shoulder cape also worn by these same monks while collecting alms.

Use of the academic robe came to the United States in 1754 with the founding of what is now Columbia University. In 1895, a commission of University officials adopted a universal code of design and color for the academic garb. This code has undergone several revisions in subsequent years.

Styling of the robes varies for the bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees with the width of sleeve borders and length of the hood increasing with each advanced degree. Hoods are normally not used for bachelor's degrees today. Instead, the tassel colors are used to indicate the degree program. All doctoral degree recipients are indicated by a gold tassel.

UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM

The University Honors Program is an all-University program which provides maximum educational opportunities for students of high ability through special multidisciplinary seminars and participation in an academic level not generally possible in usual curricular offerings.

The program is an outgrowth of the Arts and Sciences Honors program and was initiated in 1978. It is governed through the office of the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and administered through the Honors Coordinator. UNO colleges which implement honors programs include Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Fine Arts, Public Affairs and Community Service, and Information Science and Technology.

As part of their Honors Program requirements, students undertake a research project that results in a Senior Honors Thesis. Students and their theses topics are listed at the end of the list of graduates. Students who have been designated in this booklet as Honors Program students have fulfilled the academic requirements of this program.

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

CHRISTOPHER A. SMITH

Christopher A. Smith, a student from Council Bluffs, Iowa, has achieved success at the University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNOmaha) as a student, while continuing to work full-time. He is a senior systems engineer with Call Interactive - a division of First Data Corporation.

Smith will graduate with a bachelor of general studies degree in management information systems from the College of Continuing Studies. His commencement address is titled "Dandelions and Sunsets."

While at UNOmaha, Smith received numerous academic honors, including recognition at the annual Honors Convocation as an undergraduate major honoree for the College of Continuing Studies, and as a member of Golden Key and Alpha Sigma Lambda honor societies.

In his free time, Smith likes to read, listen to music and spend time with his wife, Debra. Following graduation, he plans to continue to work at Call Interactive.

CHANCELLOR'S MEDAL RECIPIENT AND COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

JOHNT. LANGAN

John T. Langan, associate professor and chair of the teacher education department in the College of Education at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, is the latest recipient of the Chancellor's Medal.

Dr. Langan earned his B.S. in elementary education from Omaha University in 1968, his M.S. in elementary education from UNOmaha in 1969, and his Ph.D. in curriculum development from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1973. Throughout his 30-plus years of involvement with the university, he has served as its ambassador and advocate.

A member of the UNOmaha faculty since 1969, Dr. Langan has been instrumental in the creation of many programs including the College of Education Office of Student Services; the Teacher Academy Project (TAP); the Content/Pedagogy Committee—a structure used to discuss ideas and issues among faculty from the College of Education, the College of Arts and Sciences, and the College of Fine Arts; and the CADRE Project—a beginning teacher induction program which was recognized as one of the outstanding education projects in the United States by the U.S. Secretary of Education.

As chair of the teacher education department, a position he has held since 1992, Dr. Langan has developed a rapport with his faculty by allowing them to develop and use their talents. Under his direction, the teacher education department has been selected three times as the outstanding teaching unit at UNOmaha.

In addition to his duties as department chair, Dr. Langan has coordinated the College of Education's external review process at the state and national level since 1978. He represents the college and has served as president of the Nebraska Council on Teacher Education, the Nebraska Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and Phi Delta Kappa. He also served two terms as president of the UNOmaha faculty senate.

Outside of his university duties, Dr. Langan has served as a member of the Omaha Public Schools' Board of Education for 10 years — the last four as president.

In honor of his professionalism, dedication and service, UNOmaha takes pride in recognizing Dr. John T. Langan as the August 2001 recipient of the Chancellor's Medal.

The Chancellor's Medal at the University of Nebraska at Omaha was established to recognize the contributions of faculty and administrative staff who embody the institution's mission and values. It is bestowed only to those within the university community who have demonstrated unusual excellence.

ORDER OF THE TOWER RECIPIENT

Donald L. Smithey has spent time in or around airplanes for most of his life. From his time as an active reservist at the U.S. Naval Air Station in Glenview, Ill., to his administrative positions with major airports, his professional career has involved flight and the airline industry.

Smithey received his B.S. in business management from Southern Illinois University. He also attended St. Ambrose University and did post-graduate training at the University of Missouri-St. Louis in transportation management and transportation law.

His career in the airline industry started as an assistant operations dispatcher with Ozark Airlines. Smithey then served as commissioner, chairman and ultimately director for the St. Louis Airport Authority. He has been with the Omaha Airport Authority since 1985, serving as director of administration, deputy executive director and then executive director - the position he still holds today. Under his leadership, Omaha's airport has prospered - offering air service unparalleled by similar size communities in the nation.

In addition to his many professional duties, Smithey was instrumental in the creation of the Aviation Institute at UNOmaha. In 1989, he formed the committee that secured funding for the project, and he holds a courtesy faculty appointment at the Institute. In 2000, they created the "Donald L. Smithey Scholarship in Aviation Administration" in his honor. To date, Smithey continues to dedicate his time and effort to the Institute - recently agreeing to chair the "Century in Flight Capital Initiative," a fundraising campaign that runs through 2003.

Smithey, a commercially licensed pilot, also assists many community airports in Nebraska and Iowa with their planning. He is a member of numerous professional organizations, including the American Association of Airport Executives and the Airports Council International.

He is actively involved in his community - serving in many civic and fraternal organizations, including the Experimental Aircraft Association, Omaha Rotary Club, Tangier Shrine, Quiet Birdmen Association and the Silver Wings Fraternity.

For all his community service and contributions to the university, it is with great pleasure that Donald L. Smithey is awarded the Order of the Tower.

First presented in 1964, the Order of the Tower is the University of Nebraska at Omaha's highest non-academic award. Since that time, more than 70 individuals have received this honor, which symbolizes an ongoing commitment to the growth and development of the university.

The Order of the Tower is bestowed upon community leaders whose service and/or financial support has made it possible for the university to address the academic, cultural and economic needs of the people of Omaha and the citizens of Nebraska. Recipients of the award embody virtues and attributes valued highly by the university and are recognized as an example to others.

ALUMNUS ACHIEVEMENT AWARD RECIPIENT

PAUL E. BRYANT

Paul E. Bryant first graduated from UNOmaha in 1982, earning a Bachelor of General Studies (BGS) degree in urban studies. Two years later, he earned a master's degree in the same field. Two years later he moved to Washington, D.C., and served as the Assistant Project Coordinator for a federal grant administered by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the DEA and the Bureau of Justice. He returned to Omaha in 1987 as a commercial analyst for First National Bank of Omaha. He eventually became a bank officer and developed the Department of Business Development, managing a program to loan $50 million in the inner city.

Bryant also has been active in the community, serving numerous organizations, including the Urban League of Nebraska, Network, Inc., the National Alliance of African American Athletes, the Great Plains Museum, United Way, YMCA, Stephen Center and Vincent House, the North Omaha Revitalization Committee and the city of Omaha's Personnel Board. He served on the UNOmaha Alumni Association Board of Directors for three years. Bryant has been named one of 10 Outstanding Young Omahans, an Outstanding Young Man of America and a YMCA Black Achiever.

The Citation for Alumnus Achievement is presented each year at spring, summer and winter commencements to graduates who have achieved distinction in their careers. Since the citation's inception 50 years ago, the UNOmaha Alumni Association has honored more than 100 UNOmaha graduates with the award. The impressive list includes U.S. senators, military leaders, educators, artists, businessmen and women, entrepreneurs and many others who represent the best of UNOmaha graduates.

JOHN J. MACKIEL

John J. Mackiel earned a bachelor's degree in secondary education in 1972, and a master's degree from UNOmaha in the same field two years later. The district includes 45,000 students in 60 elementary schools, eight middle schools, seven high schools and four alternative schools. Its total operating budget is more than $350 million.

Mackiel has been with OPS throughout his career. He joined the district in 1972 as an English teacher at Omaha Burke High School. He taught there for three years, then taught another three years at Omaha Northwest High School. He joined OPS administration in 1978 in the department of staff personnel services. He later served as chief negotiator and administrative assistant to the superintendent, as assistant superintendent and as chief financial officer.

His community involvement is extensive, including stints on the boards of directors of Omaha Youth Leadership, the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scouts of America, the National Conference for Community and Justice, Omaha 2000 and others. Most recently, he was named an Outstanding Alumnus of the Delta Kappa Society. Other honors include the Distinguished Alumni Award from the Nebraska Community Colleges Association, the Impact Award from the Council of Great City Schools and the Large City Superintendent Award from the Congressional Black Caucus Education Braintrust.

The Citation for Alumnus Achievement is presented each year at spring, summer and winter commencements to graduates who have achieved distinction in their careers.
